The Power of Digital Integration !

The World's First
INTEGRATED COMMUNITY COMPUTER
for group interaction

K-yan Community Computer from IL&FS Education & Technology Services Ltd.(IETS) combines the functions of a Multimedia Computer, DVD/VCD/CD Player, DVD/CD Writer, DLP Projector, Internet Surfing, Video Conferencing, Large Format Flat Television and Audio Visual System in a single compact unit. The result is a completely integrated, easy to use product with an ultra large display upto 300", making it ideal for all group viewing needs: from class rooms, coaching classes and training centres to conference and seminar rooms and community centres.

Designed to be extremely easy-to-use, the computer and the TV in K-yan can be controlled from the wireless mouse: from making presentations, working in applications, to watching DVDs and changing TV channels.

The small size of K-yan allows it to be kept in a wall unit or securely kept at one end of the room to completely free the floor space; while giving a wall-to-wall rich media experience: from Movies and Television to interactive Multimedia; Internet, Gaming and Audio Visual; making it also ideal for home use.

It is a full-feature high performance multimedia computer with Intel processor, and built-in LAN and USB ports for networking and internet connectivity.

Multimedia Content

IETS has developed over 1,500 original multimedia lessons with animation, audio, video and graphics that address core concepts in various subjects. Multimedia helps the students in developing mental models and connect to the new knowledge domain. They are better able to visualize the activities in the knowledge domain and learn from them. Multimedia usage results in better understanding, longer retention & precise application of knowledge.
